DETAILED ACTION

El ction/R strictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C.

121:

- I. Claims 1-19 and 40-56 drawn to a medical cabinet, classified in class 312, subclasses 330.1, 334.1, 334.4, 334.7 and 351.
- II. Claim 20, drawn to a method of using a cabinet, classified in class 312, subclasses 330.1, 334.1, 334.4, 334.7 and 351.
- III. Claims 21-23, drawn to another method of using a cabinet, classified in class 312, subclasses 330.1, 334.1, 334.4, 334.7 and 351.
- IV. Claims 24-28, drawn to another method of using a cabinet, classified in class 312, subclasses 330.1, 334.1, 334.4, 334.7 and 351.
- V. Claims 29-36, drawn to a medical cabinet, classified in class 312, subclasses 330.1, 334.1, 334.4, 334.7 and 351.
- VI. Claims 29 and 37-39, drawn to a computer controlled medical cabinet, classified in class 700, subclass 236.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II-IV are related as processes and apparatus for their practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the processes as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the processes outlined in groups II-IV can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus having an enclosure with slots in the side to allow for the selective hanging of drawers, shelves, or other equipment. Such apparatus is well known in the art. In addition, the processes as claimed may be practiced by hand. Furthermore, the apparatus as claimed in other groups, may be used to practice another and materially different process such as another combination of placement of items in the cabinet structure. These invention groups are directed towards subject matter found in class 312, subclasses 330.1, 334.1, 334.4, 334.7 and 351.

Inventions V and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions V and VI are different, despite the linking Claim 29, because Claim 39 of Invention VI is directed towards a medical cabinet with computer-controlled access. Invention IV is directed towards subject matter found in class 700, subclass 236 while Invention V is directed towards subject matter found in class 312, subclasses 330.1, 334.1, 334.4, 334.7 and 351.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

In addition, because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group IV is not required for Groups I-V, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
